Why your competitors are using Polar Recruitment

Time

- Hours spent designing/organising advertising campaigns?
- Hours spent assessing hundreds of applications?
- Hours spent responding to each applicant with the outcome of their application?
- Hours spent fielding the many calls relating to enquiries on the role(s) advertised?
- Hours spent interviewing multiple candidates?
- Hours spent negotiating offers and coordinating start arrangements?

"Time is money!"

Wouldn't it be worth considering outsourcing the above?

Polar Recruitment act as your partner undertaking all of these time consuming and costly activities, allowing you to focus on what's really important; promptly securing the right candidates to integrate within your organisation.

Cost

Did you know that the average expenditure for recruiting a single employee is in excess of £4,000?

This cost increases dependent upon the seniority of the position and the number of staff required. Many of the costs involved are often unexpected and unaccounted for, including:

- Time (as exempld above)
- Advertising costs
- Redundancy costs
- Induction costs
- Referencing costs
- Attrition costs
- Recruitment and selection costs
- Interim cover
- Training costs
- Exit interview costs
- SLA penalties

Polar Recruitment can assist with pro-active candidate sourcing, improved candidate suitability, lowered attrition and training costs and more. This enables you to maintain high levels of service to your customers. Let the experts reduce your costs, by increasing your efficiency.

Efficiency

Many companies feel comfortable with time honoured recruitment processes; be it the local press, company web site, employee referrals etc. This may have proved sufficient in the past, but is it the most effective and efficient strategy in today's competitive market?

Polar Recruitment currently supports others in your market sector, providing higher quality candidates sourced through multiple avenues such as:

- Print media
- Job boards
- In house databases
- Head hunting
- Redundancy consultation
- Referrals
- Networking

Polar Recruitment specialise in optimising the efficiency of your recruitment processes utilising multiple sources and the latest recruitment techniques for the benefit of your business.

Why limit your potential pool of talent!?

PSL?

Preferred supplier lists / agreements are an asset to your company. PSL's highlight the fact that you take recruitment seriously and understand that professional recruitment partnerships are central to your success.

However, when did you last ensure that your PSL agencies are:

- Focused predominantly in your specialist sector(s)?
- Providing you with the best value for money?
- Using the latest candidate identification techniques?
- Giving you the best customer service available?
- Representing you to the highest standards in the market?
- Servicing the full range of your requirements?
- Maintaining a close and transparent partnership?
- Providing the best ROI?

Whether it be a corporate solution or individual purchase we all seek the best value - don't we?

Polar Recruitment understand that many agencies flood you with speculative CV's and request up front commitment in the form of supplier agreements, approved terms, and budgetary allocations. This ultimately reduces your ability to secure the ideal candidate in the current market from the broadest sources available at the best value.

We understand the proof really is in the pudding so we offer you the opportunity to utilise our service free to charge with no commitment or paperwork to complete - sound fair?

We are confident that the quality and value of the service provided will result in a lasting business partnership, evolving from mutual commitment initiated by you.

Bespoke

Permanent, contingent, FTC, managed service... the list of options is huge, with confusing terminology. Polar Recruitment aim to de-mystify such resourcing solutions through the provision of bespoke services - that meet your needs.

Polar Recruitment currently provides tailored solutions for a variety of clients. Why not ask how we can add value to you business today?
